

You are Invited to a Celebration

When: Watch the sky

Where: Your house or mine!

Do you like parties?

Do you even look for reasons to celebrate?
Once you decide you want to throw a party,
you have to let others know about it.

Some people send cards.
Others call on the phone.

Sometimes for really special events, a plane will write across the sky, and then lots of people will see it all at once.

“Wow, that sure is some party over there,” they’ll say.